If I Were Mayor by Allison Keen

If I were Mayor, I would have a fair for charity. I would take a vote for which charity we should do so everyone has a say. I would encourage kids (teenagers), to help with collecting tickets. There would be food, drinks, rides, game booths and you could play bingo.

This is important to me because it would help a charity most of the town wants to help and it will get the town together. It will bring together people and their neighbors. Did you know in some towns, people don't know their neighbors? I want a community where everyone knows everyone. I also want to help charities. It would be nice if a whole neighborhood was helping charity. We would get a lot of money to help them.

I would spread the word by putting fliers up and giving everyone a booklet about it so they know what rides there are. I would also have a commercial on the town channel. I would have a town meeting and during it, tell everyone about it.

I would encourage them by telling them how fun it would be and the cause. If they vote and the one that won is the one you voted for, you might want to do it for the charity. So if I ever became Mayor, you can come and play games in the fair.
